THE DAY IN ONE PICTURE

CoreWeave’s results restarted the AI trade

SO WHAT

One earnings report moved a whole theme

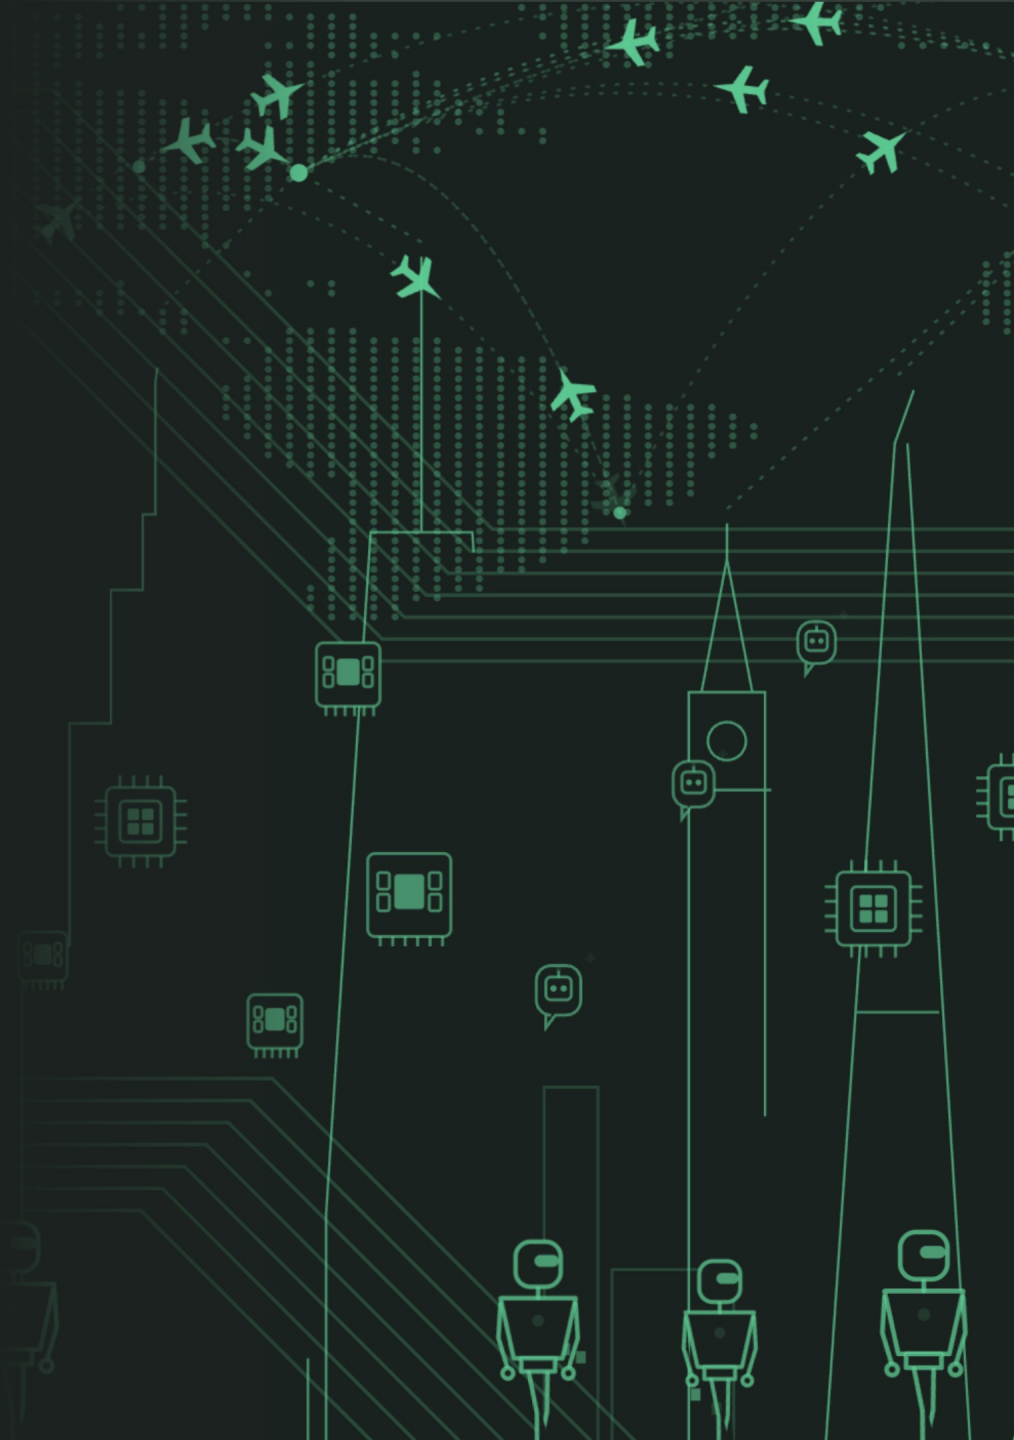

Rate worry did not go away: dollar up, gold down

Small caps and the average stock lagged

Averages, volume	9	Leaders abroad	15

MARKETS · US EQUITIES

The Nasdaq led a 1.3% rebound; the Dow trailed

SO WHAT

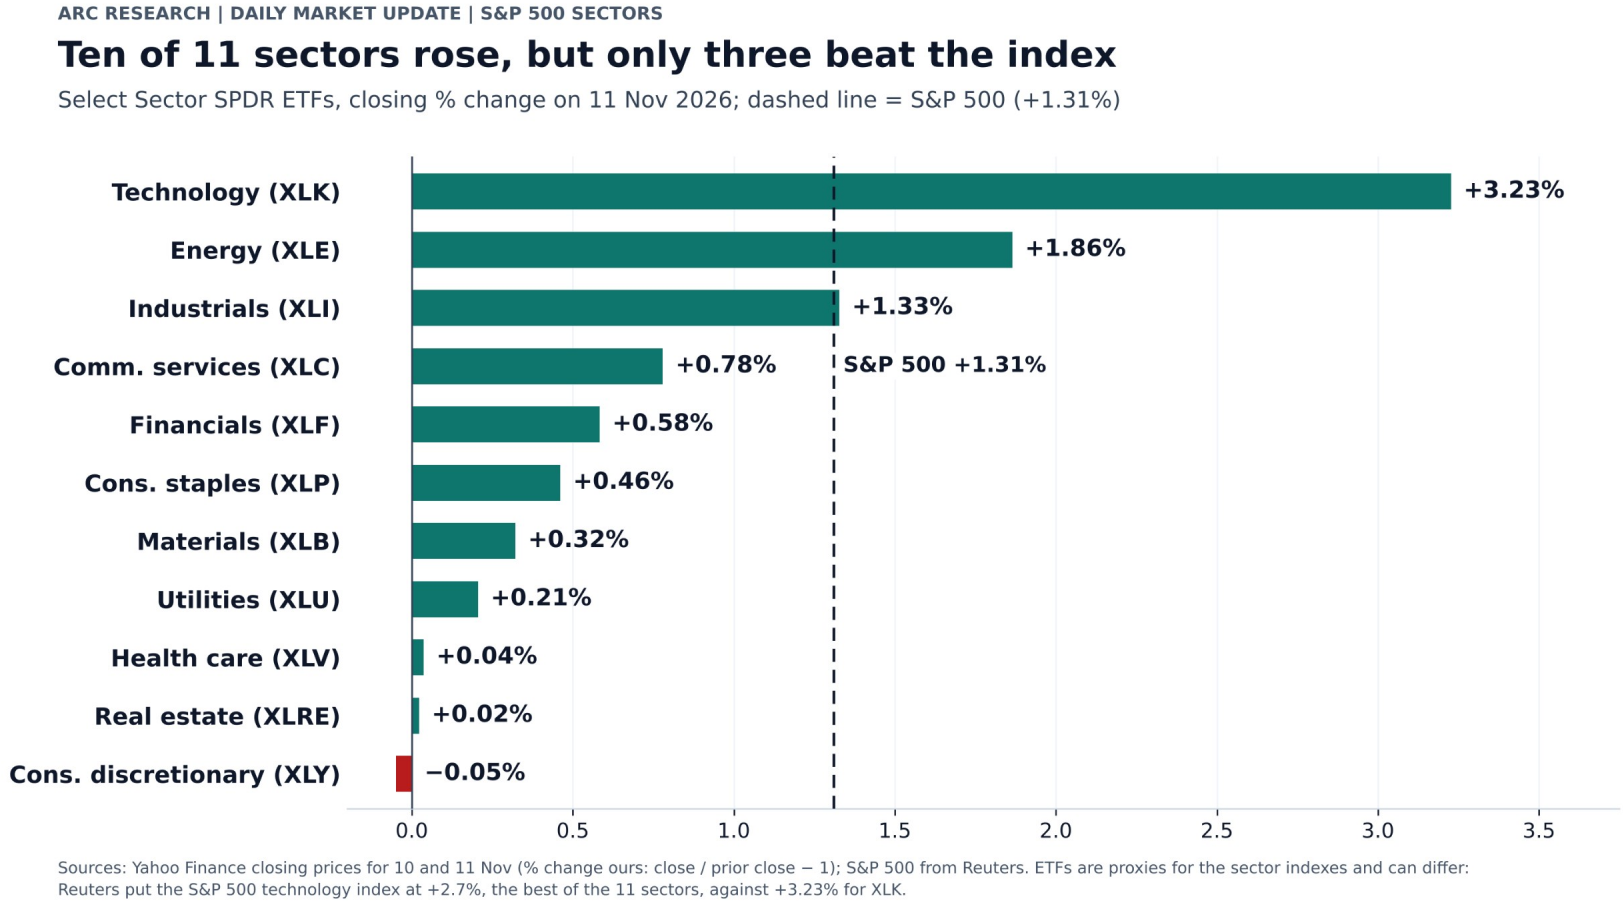

Tuesday’s CPI dip erased, and more

S&P 500 is 2.6% below its record

Week to date: S&P +3.3%, Nasdaq +3.6%

MARKETS · S&P 500 SECTORS

Ten of 11 sectors rose; only three beat the index

SO WHAT

Tech did the lifting: +3.2%

Energy second as oil bounced

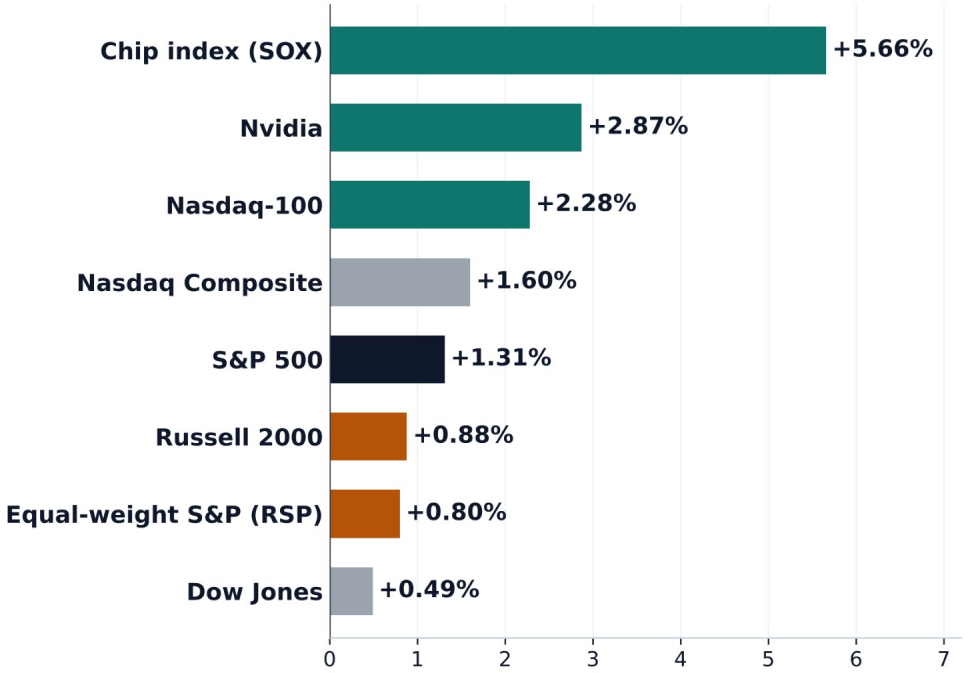

Six sectors rose less than 0.5%

Chips led clearly; the average stock lagged

ARC RESEARCH | DAILY MARKET UPDATE | WHO LED, AND BREADTH

Chips led by a wide margin; small caps and the average stock trailed

Closing % change, 11 Nov 2026 (left) and breadth measures (right)

10 of 11 sector ETFs higher

1.48 : 1 NYSE advancers to decliners (Nasdaq 1.77 : 1)

+0.80% equal weight vs +1.31% for the cap-weighted S&P 500

14.7B shares traded vs an 18.7B 20-day average

Sources: Reuters closing report (S&P 500, Nasdaq, Dow, SOX +5.7%, advancers:decliners, volume, new highs and lows); Yahoo Finance closes for ^SOX, ^NDX, ^RUT and RSP (% ours); The Motley Fool (Nvidia close $173.73). Sector count uses the Select Sector SPDR ETFs. CoreWeave (+24.7%, Reuters) is off this chart's scale.

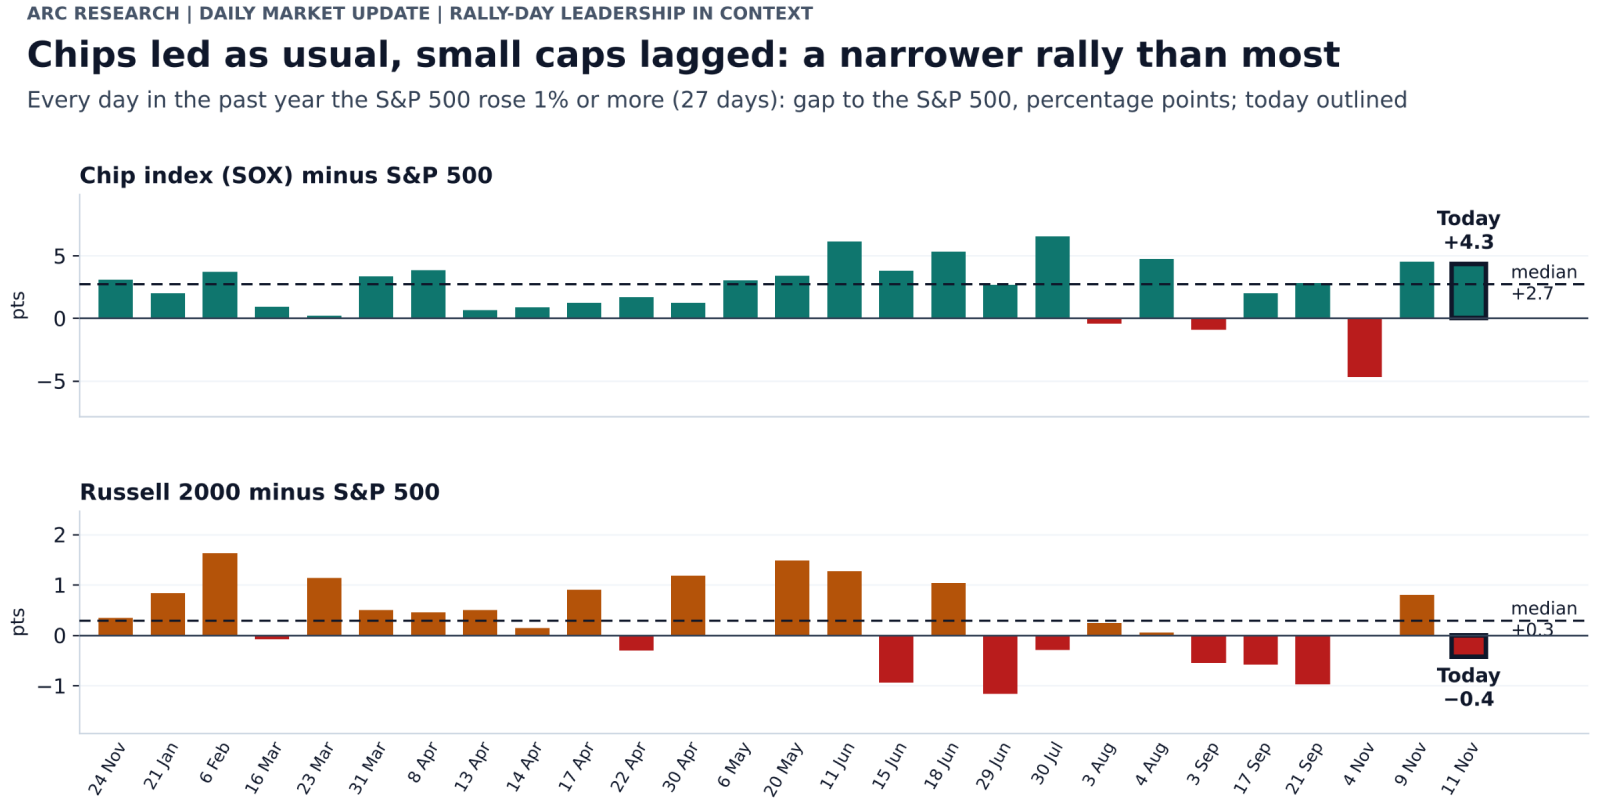

SO WHAT

A chip-led day, not a broad one

Breadth 1.5 to 1, vs 4 to 1 on Monday

Light volume on the bond holiday

Chips led as usual; small caps did not join in

Source: Yahoo Finance daily closes for ^GSPC, ^SOX and ^RUT, 11 Nov 2025 to 11 Nov 2026; calculation ours: index daily % change minus S&P 500 daily % change.
On the 26 earlier days chips beat the S&P 500 on 23 (median gap +2.7 pts) and the Russell 2000 on 18 (median +0.3 pts). Today: chips +4.3 pts, Russell 2000 −0.4 pts.

SO WHAT

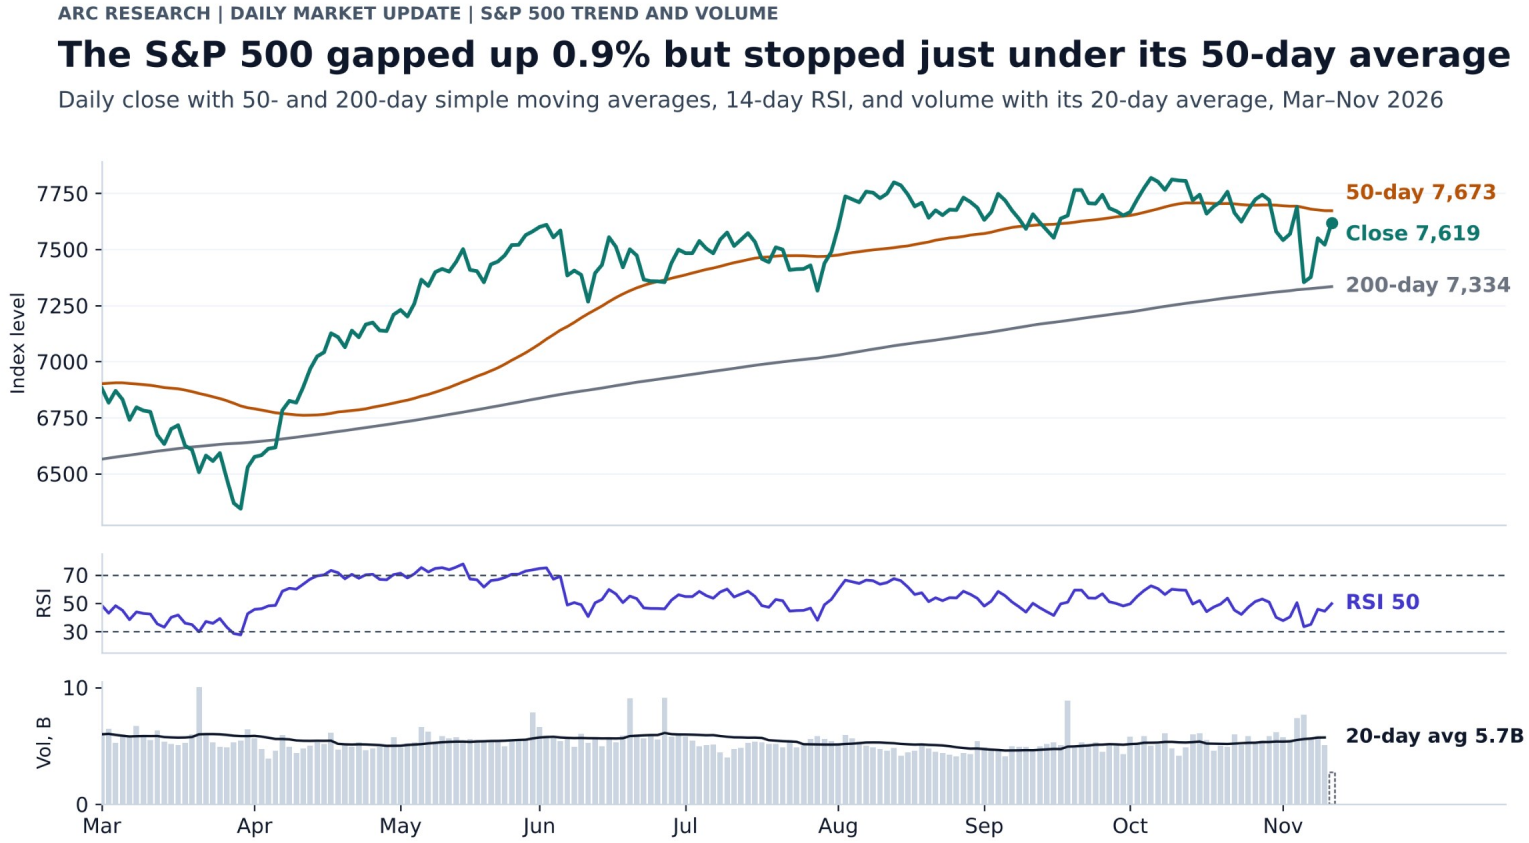

Chips +4.3 pts vs a usual +2.7

Small caps −0.4 pts vs a usual +0.3

Narrower than Monday’s rally

TECHNICALS · S&P 500 TREND AND VOLUME

The S&P 500 gapped up but is still under its 50-day

SO WHAT

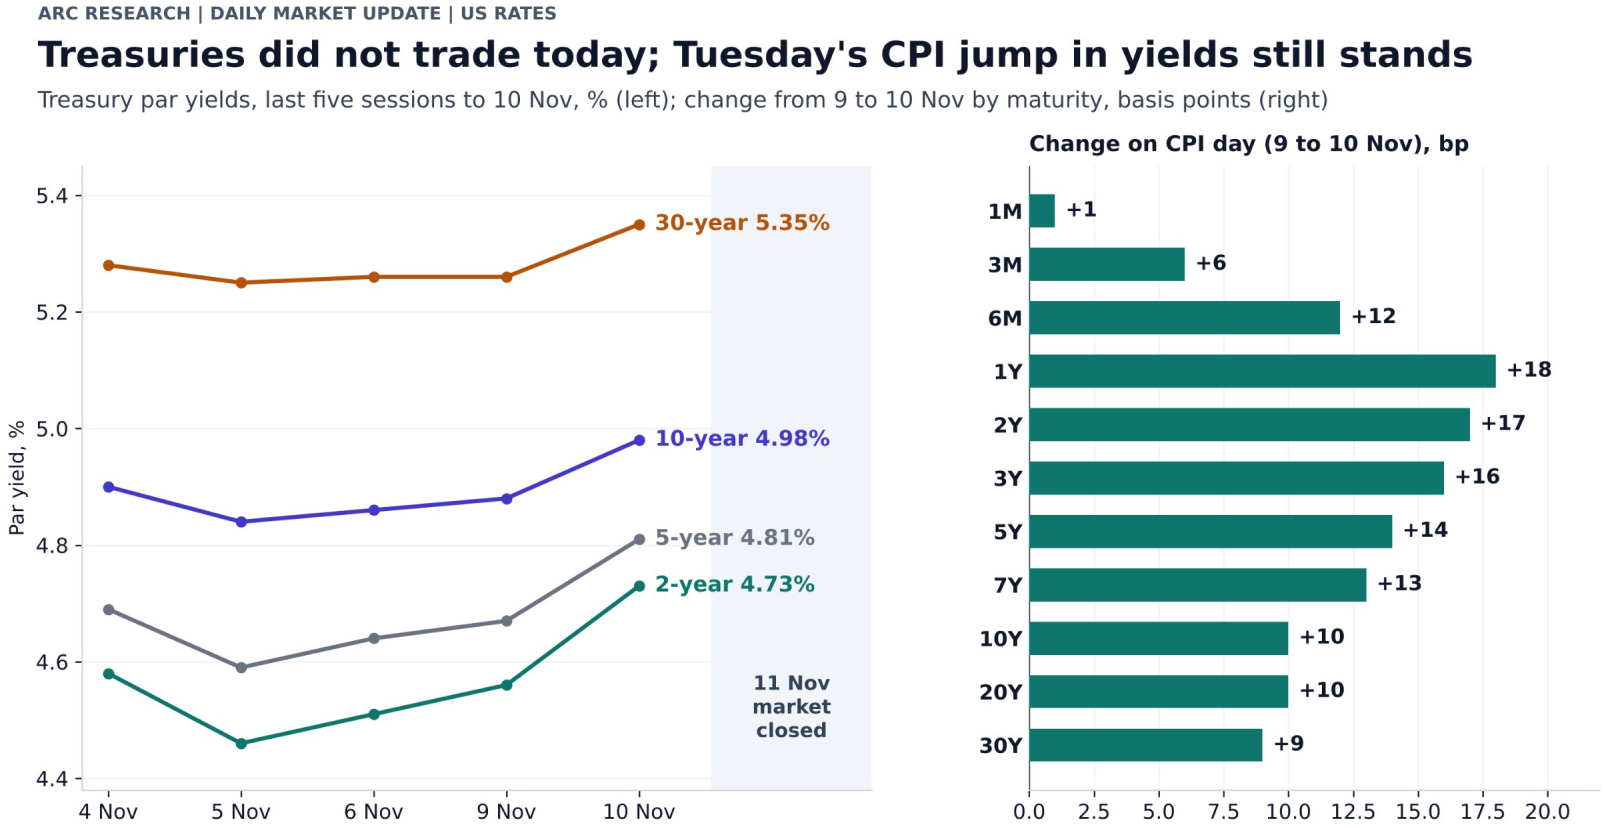

Gap up +0.87%; closed 63% up the day's range

Not confirmed: 0.7% below the 50-day, light volume

Holding: 3.9% above the 200-day; RSI 50

MARKETS · US RATES

Treasuries did not trade; the 10-year sits at 4.98%

Sources: US Treasury daily par yield curve rates (no 11 Nov row: bond market closed for Veterans Day, per Reuters). Basis-point changes are ours (10 Nov minus 9 Nov).
Auctions (press-reported, Helious and Merger Monday, not checked against TreasuryDirect): 3-year $58B at 4.627%; 10-year $42B at 5.020%, bid-to-cover 2.46; 30-year $25B due 12 Nov.

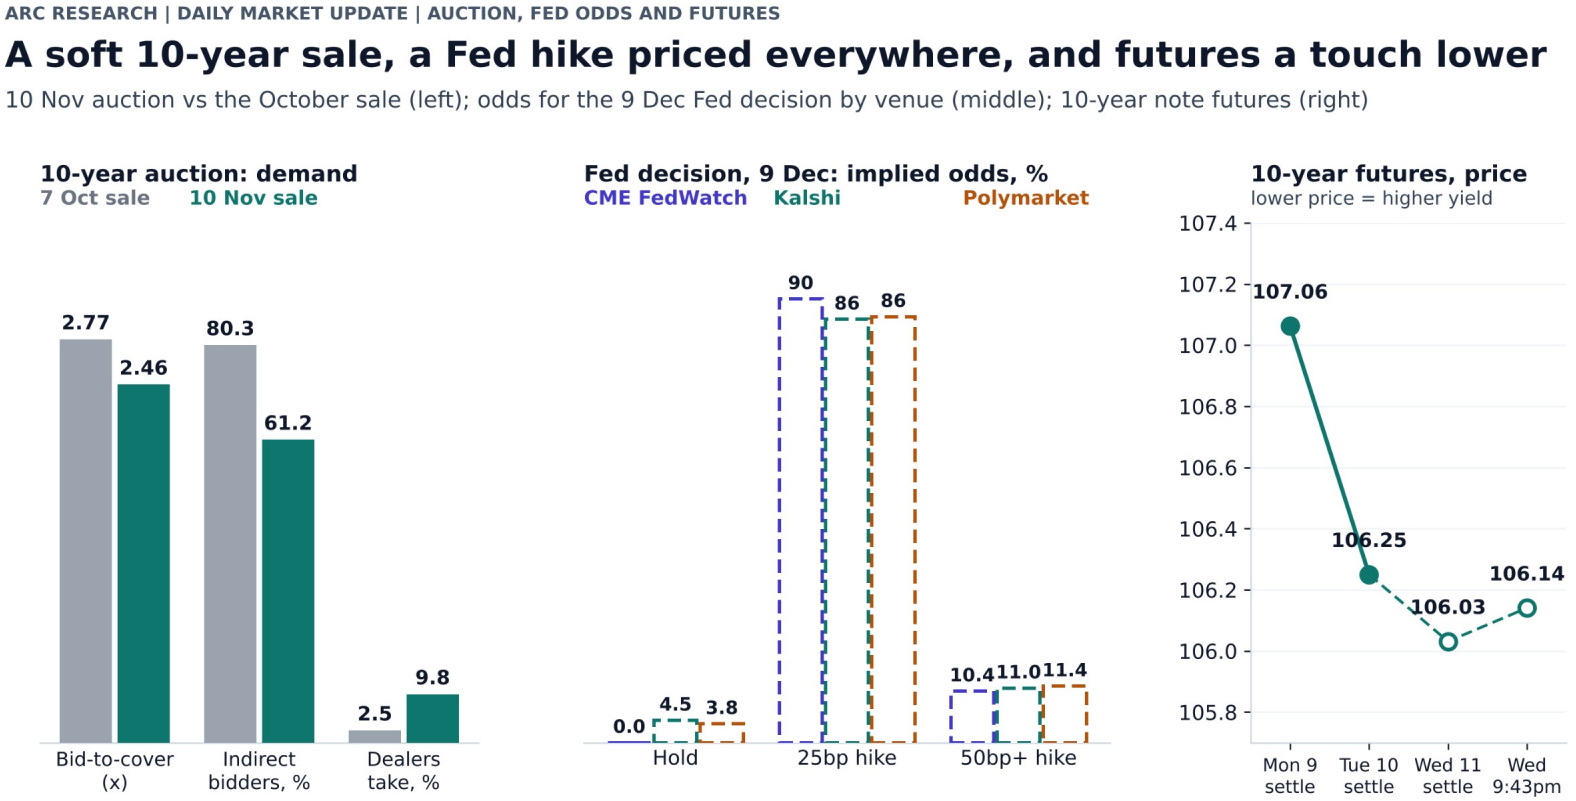

SO WHAT

Veterans Day: bond market closed

CPI day hit the front end: 2-year +17bp

Fed hike fully priced for 9 Dec; $25B 30-year sale Thu

A soft 10-year sale, and a Fed hike priced everywhere

Sources: US Treasury auction results via BigGo Finance ($42B, 5% coupon, high yield 5.020%; 10-auction average bid-to-cover 2.54); Kalshi via Prediction Markets Picks (9:30am ET 11 Nov); Polymarket event page; CME FedWatch via the Reuters closing report (25bp = 100 − 10.4, ours). Futures: Yahoo ZN=F; Tuesday settle 106.25. Wednesday's settle is derived (ours): evening quote 106.140625 less its change of +0.109375 = 106.03. Bloomberg, via Briefs: futures pointed to yields 2 to 4bp higher at the reopen.

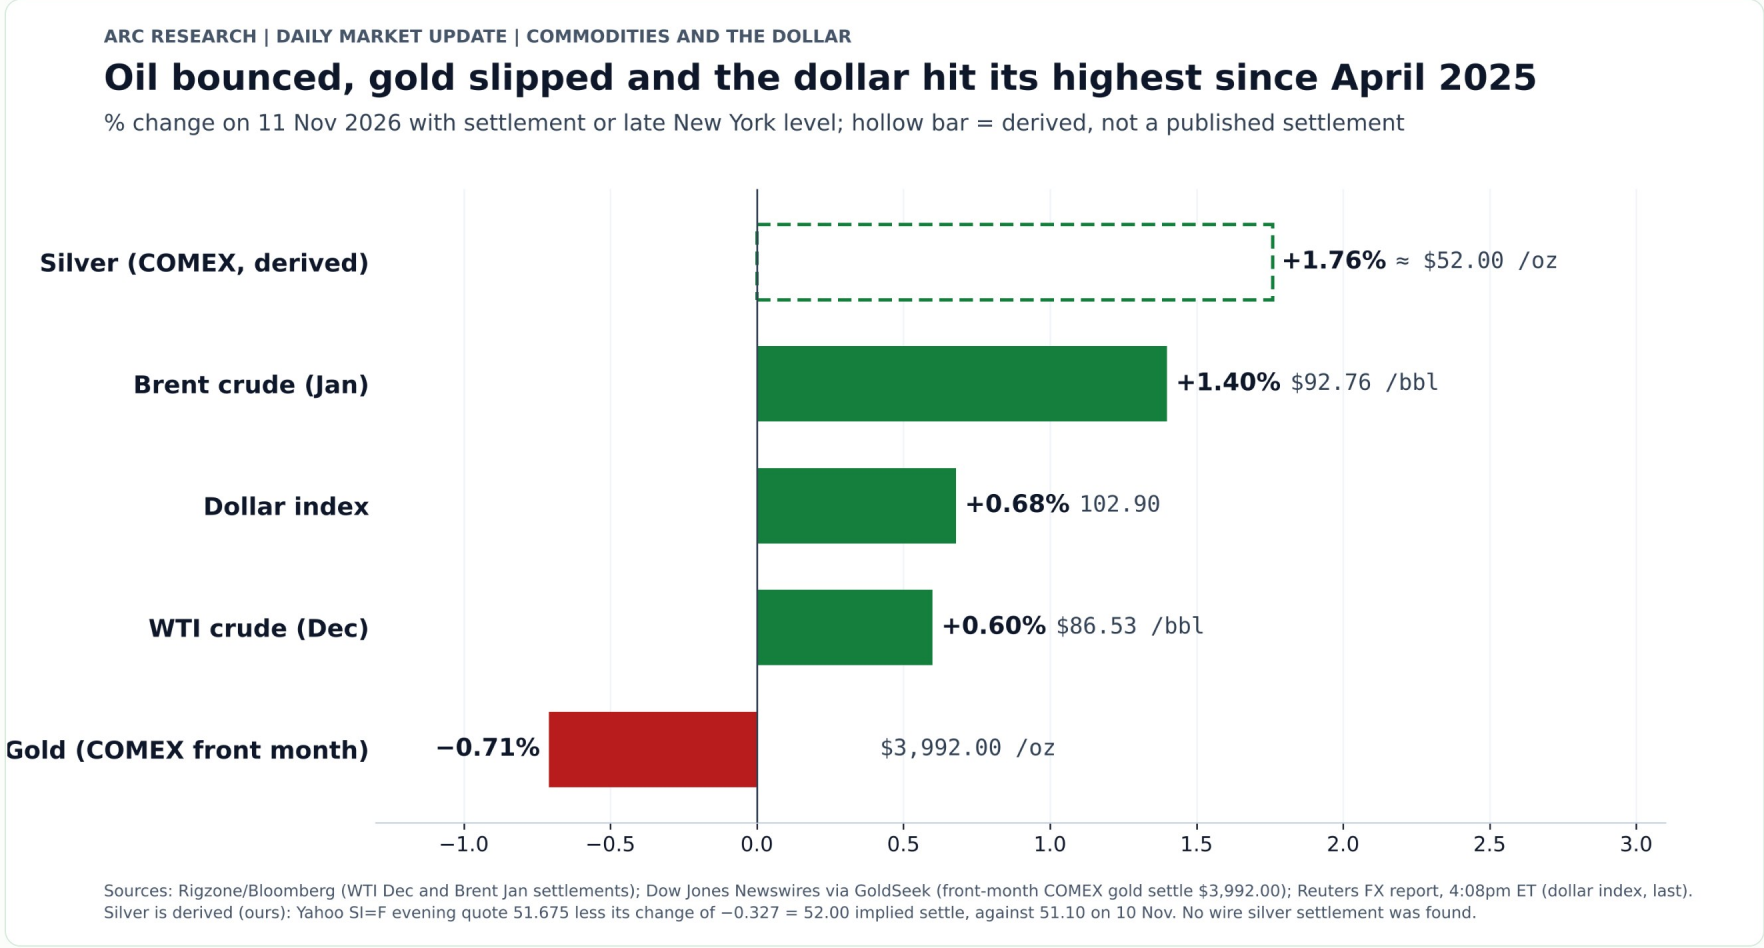

SO WHAT

Auction at 5.020%; foreign-type demand fell to 61%

Waller: 25bp likely; 50bp “should be considered”

Futures slipped: yields seen 2–4bp higher at the reopen

Oil bounced, gold slipped, the dollar kept climbing

SO WHAT

Oil: mixed Iran signals after a 5% two-day drop

Dollar at its highest since April 2025

Yen 159.84, euro $1.11, bitcoin $74,460

MARKETS · GOLD OVER ONE YEAR

Gold is back near $4,000, a quarter below its peak

Source: Yahoo Finance GC=F history (continuous front-month series; contract rolls can add small jumps). Peak close $5,318.4 on 29 Jan 2026; 2025 year-end $4,341.1.
Today's point is hollow and derived (ours): evening quote 3,998.40 less its change of −2.10 = 4,000.50 implied settle for the Dec contract. Dow Jones reported a front-month settle of $3,992.00 (−0.71%).

SO WHAT

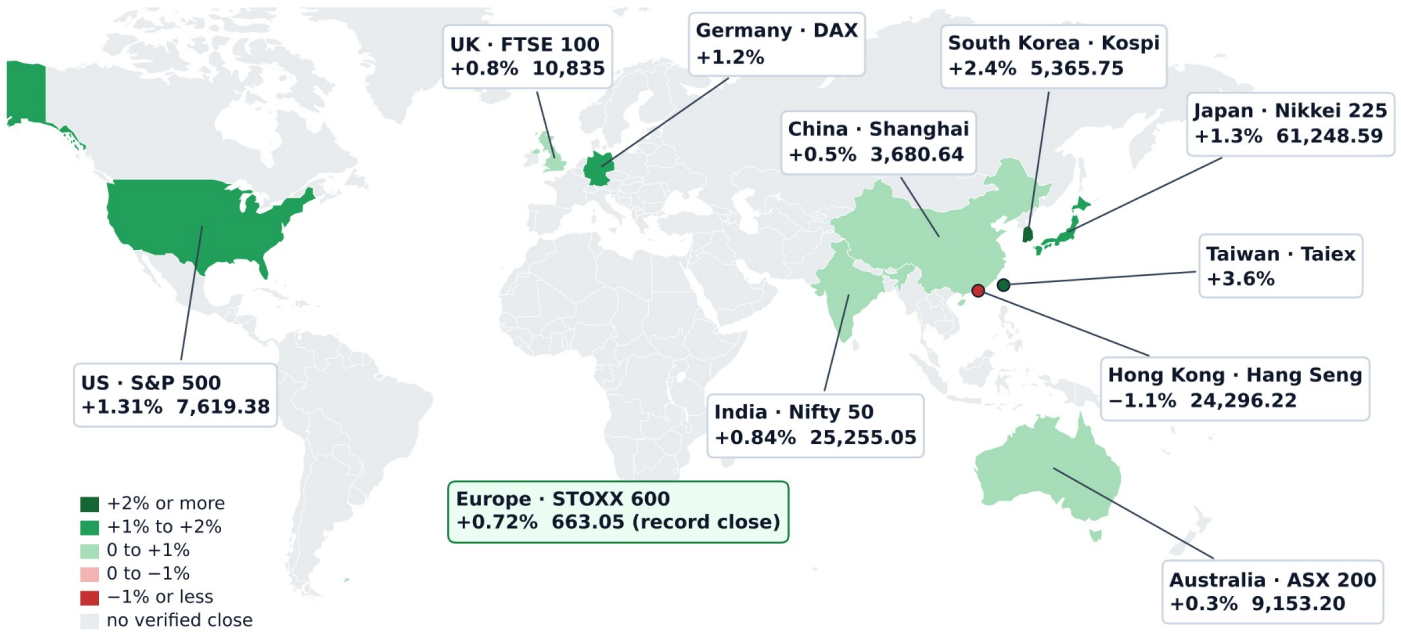

−24.8% from the 29 Jan peak; −7.8% this year
